

CAPPlan® Business Case Development tool to be launched in Q1 2008

Richmond Hill, ON – July 30, 2007 – Capital Planning Solutions Inc (“CPSI”) a provider of end-to-end solutions for facilities capital planning and asset management, today announced that CAPPlan™, the Business Case Development tool will be release in the first quarter of 2008.

CFOs and other executives will now have a tool that will assemble all relevant data from TCPS® CAPP worlds and build solid business cases. The data is extracted and combined with data from other sources - data that is usually scattered around the typical enterprise.

“This is business intelligence at its best.” “Trusting your data is key to fully exploring business options – and if you have reliable data to start with the correct course of action is illuminated.”

CAPPlan™ will provide scenario builder, risk assessment and an advanced business case writing tool. So if you need to justify acquisitions, disposals, energy programs or determine the optimum use of operational assets – this is the tool for you. Configurable Templates are provided to get a quick start and achieve consistency when multiple business case analysis is required. Saving templates and securing reports with user defined roles will be a standard feature. Monte Carlo simulations and multiple output formatting options will also be available.
